a good fellow, Judge Rosalsky said that he could not treat Brouwer differenty from the ordinary thief. Had to Make an Example.

"It is a pity that a man who has led such an excellent life as you have, the Judge told Brouwer, "and who has been successful, at this late, day should him of so serious a crime. You have brought disgrace upon yourself and the members of your family, but no one is responsible for that other than your What example is there for a young man employed in a confidential capacity if the Court should not impose punishment as a deterrent to others, giving them to understand that if they violate the law, notwithstanding what good reputation they may have enjoyed, punishment will surely fol-

James W. Osbirne, who appeared for Brouwer, made a particularly strong appeal for elemency.
"He is a man of moral character."

Mr. Osborne exclaimed. "He never drank or gambled and never had a bad habit. It is one of the saddest cases I ever encolntered in my life, and I appeal to Your Honor for extreme clemency."

During all these years the Pease has fully maintained its reputation

William F. Sheehan, former Lieutenant-Governor of this State, wrote Judge osalsky that arouver "was not a criminal, but simply an unfortunate," and if given another opportunity would redeem himself.

H. B. Henson, secretary of the Wabash Pittsburg erminal arilway Comknown Brouwer as an honorable man pany, wrote Judge Rosalsky that he had known brouwer as an honorable man for twenty-five years.

"He is another unfortunate," Mr. Henson wrote, "who has been swal-

The specific charge on which Brouwer was sentenced was the larceny of $2.756 from Jay F. Carlisle, a broker. Who has desk room with Oliphant & Co. When Carlisle went to Eur pa a few months ago he turned ever to Brouwer the unfinished negotiators for the sale of a farm in the Berashires. Brouwer sold the farm and pocketed the money. This led rto Brouwer's arrest last month, and, an investigation of his accounts showed he was a big defaulter.

"He had an expensive family," one of his employers stated at the time, "but-most-of the money went into Wall street."

Brouwer lived at No Th Washington avenue, Brooklyn. When seen, there by an Evening World reposts the day affer his arrest he told in distall the story of his peculations. Brouwer is marrier did his a family.
